Foreword EHF President

Dear handball friends,

After two Tuesday nights full of thrilling Last 16 action, the EHF European League Men 2021/22 is now ready for the quarter-finals. The competition is down to eight teams who are all striving for the same goal: qualifying for the EHF Finals Men 2022 on 28/29 May.

The EHF European League is in its second season since its inauguration in 2020. The competition has fully lived up to expectations again, with a series of tough, intense, and energetic matches, featuring an eclectic mix of teams. Only eight are left and those teams know they are just 120 minutes away from a possible berth at the EHF Finals – it does not get much more exciting than this!

Looking at those eight teams still in the mix, it is our pleasure to see that they represent eight different nations. The best teams in this strong competition are not coming from one or just a few countries, and there is no better proof of the widespread strength of top men's club handball across the continent.

So, we are going to witness eight mouth-watering encounters before we know which four teams will ultimately go for the title at the EHF Finals. Defending champions SC Magdeburg hope to add again to Germany's excellent track record in Europe's second-tier men's club handball competition after narrowly scraping through their Last 16 tie with a one-goal aggregate win over Sporting CP. Next up for the titleholders are HBC Nantes. The French side, who played at the EHF FINAL4 as recent as last season, eliminated EHF European League 2020/21 finalists Füchse Berlin with two wins.

RK Gorenje Velenje, who were in the EHF European Cup semi-finals last season, came through the Last 16 at the expense of USAM Nîmes Gard thanks to a convincing home win in the first leg. The Slovenian champions now face SL Benfica, who staged a remarkable comeback on home court in Portugal when they downed Fenix Toulouse by two goals on aggregate having lost the first leg in France by four goals.

Like Magdeburg, Polish side Orlen Wisła Płock are eying a return to the EHF Finals. Płock excelled earlier while winning their group and kept the momentum going against German side TBV Lemgo Lippe in the Last 16 to set up a meeting with Kadetten Schaffhausen. The Swiss champions upset IK Sävehof in dramatic fashion: having won the home leg by six goals, they lost by the same margin in Sweden and just made it through based on the away goals rule.

Last but not least, RK Nexø qualified for the quarter-finals coming through a tense Balkan derby, winning both legs against RK Eurofarm Pelister. The Croatian side will next travel north to Denmark, as GOG earned two two-goal wins over former EHF Champions League winners Bidasoa Iruñea to advance from the Last 16. GOG are one of the three group winners from the group phase that are still in the race, alongside Płock and Magdeburg.

Looking at the four match-ups, it is clear that we are in for a treat with a plethora of big handball clubs aiming to make it through to the final stage. All four ties are guaranteed to bring unmissable entertainment and it goes without saying how excited we are to witness these games.

Bring on the quarter-finals!
